O Come and Mourn

Hal Hopson

O come and mourn with me a while: all ye now come to the Saviour's side: come see the One who frees us all: the Lord of Life is crucified. O love of God, O sin of man, in this dread hour true strength is found. It is with love we triumph still, the Lord of Life is crucified.

If you are able, please follow as we carry the cross outside.

The final scripture reading will also be projected in the sanctuary for online worshipers and those who prefer to remain seated indoors.

O Sacred Head, Now Wounded 221

1 O sa - cred head, now wound-ed, with grief and shame weighed down;
 2 What thou, my Lord, hast suf - fered was all for sin - ners' gain:
 3 What lan-guage shall I bor - row to thank thee, dear-est friend, now scorn-ful - ly sur - round - ed with thorns, thine on - ly crown;

 mine, mine was the trans - gres - sion, but thine the dead-ly pain.
 for this thy dy - ing sor - row, thy pit - y with-out end?

O sa - cred head, what glo - ry, what bliss till now was thine!
 Lo, here I fall, my Sav - ior! 'Tis I de - serve thy place;
 O make me thine for - ev - er; and should I faint-ing be,

Yet, though de - spised and gor - y, I joy to call thee mine.
 look on me with thy fa - vor, and grant to me thy grace.
 Lord, let me nev - er, nev - er out - live my love to thee.

This poignant hymn originated in a series of Holy Week meditations focused on the parts of Christ's crucified body: feet, knees, hands, side, breast, heart, face. First joined to secular words, this chorale melody has appeared with this text since the mid-17th century.
